SUMMARY ABOUT YALD

YALD is an International Non-profit Organization which is devoid of any spirit of profit, undertake activities with young African people to encourage the spirit of cooperation, development and mutuality assistance in the Community. YALD is a biblical basic organization which was created in 2018 by United Methodist Young leaders from Africa and these young leaders are from young leaders' summit, a program of young people ministries.

YALD is establish in 19 countries in which we have been able to identify strong umc members who are passionate to serving in their community.

The membership of YALD is made up to 60 percent young Methodist young leaders and 40 percent none Methodist.

The Young African Leadership Development is a youth organization that had its birth in the Democratic Republic of Congo. It has however got its subsidiary Leadership scattered around Africa, in DRC, Cameroun, Congo Brazzaville, Zimbabwe, Liberia, Sierra Leone, Malawi, Mozambique, Angola, Rwanda, Tanzania, Namibia, South Africa, Uganda, Nigeria, Ethiopia, Kenya, Ghana, Ivory Coast.

The initiative of this organization is not unconnected with the missions and visions of Church of Christ, though not expressly a part of its young people's structure.

There has nonetheless been a thriving and unique YALD policy - a unity in diversity scope on which it adequately functions in harness with the African young people. Bulk of YALD's members are United Methodist young people but not only limited to United Methodists. Our vision is to invest in young people around Africa.

Our Mission

Promote, inspire, empower and create a new generation of Young African Leaders by providing skills, knowledge and resources for an inclusive and global development of young people in Africa and the transformation of individual young people in the community.

Our Vision

To be agents of transformational change and socio-cultural development in African community.

Our Global Objectives

We exist to transform the lives and livelihoods of young people from an environmental, entrepreneurial, transformational leadership and development-based perspective in Africa with a spirit of respect of the Bible and human right.

8. YALD consider umc as a potential partner and hope to sign partnership with some of its agencies which promote community development.

9. YALD has concluded two partnership with two great universities in DRC, Université Chrétien de Kinshasa (Christian University of Kinshasa) and Institut National de Batiments et des Travaux Publics (College of building and public works).

Challenges facing as organization

1. Since yald was created, we operate with self-support, however some projects that have been funded by the united Methodist young people's program.
2. We have challenges of financial resources and human resources. Human resources because these young people need to be trained to be able to extend the vision in their communities.
3. The international office of which was given to us by a Christian University of Kinshasa is still unequipped due to resources.
4. We have worked on the constitution of the organization and have proceeded with having some legal documents which can help the organization to operate, still there is need for more document.
5. A part from DRC, the rest of the member state of yald are still operating in informally.
6. The leaders of yald contributes hardly.

Expectation of yald leadership from their advisors

1. The involment in YALD plannings and activities spiritually, physically and financially;
2. Support YALD with advices and tools to improve the work.
3. Be peace makers and councilors in conflictual periods.
4. Support yald with creative thinking and help the leadership explore new doors of opportunities to partnership and collaboration.
5. Link yald with other organization with same objectives, ecumenical, religious, social development etc.
